Proclamation.

In periods of public calamity or of abundant prosperity, nations have bowed in humiliation to their Maker. In the first instance to implore His mercy, in the second to effer the sacrifice of grateful hearts for His kindness and protection. Our own beloved Commonwealth has heretofore had peculiar cause to be thankful for His never ceasing mercy and kindness; and now that the nations of the old world are unvolved in war, wasting their strength on the battle field, and consuming their substance in maintaining exhausing armies, it especially becomes us to realize

Man ought to always have something which he prefers to life, otherwise life itself will appear to him tiresome and void. An Irishman, having been told that the price of bread had fallen, exclaimed :--

This is the first time I iver rejoiced at the fall of my best friend." We know a young gent in town who has grown round-shouldered by bending over so much to kiss the girls! Poor fellow!-

Jackson City, O., 20th Nov., 1852.

Dr J. C. Ayer,

Sir—The Cherry Pictoral is much inquired after.

Several of our best Physicians have used it, three of them in their own case, and always with the happiest effects. The numerous patient medicines always bofore them, lead to incredulity in regard to every new remedy; and it is only after undoubted evidence of value in any article, that anything like a receral confidence can be evided. gen's, (in the Cherry Pectoral) proved beyond cavil by repeated trial under their own observation, has compelled medical men to proclaim abroad its usefulness. It is beyond all doubt the best general remodules we have for the Pulmonary Affections of this climate, at the same time sedative and expectorant a rare combination of proprerties.

In the hope that it will prove its ownreward, I sub-JAS. H. C. MILLER, M. D. Allegan, Mich., 10th, Jan., 1853.

Dear Sir—No one, no not one—man, woman, or hild—can be found to deny that the Cherry Pectoral all that it claims to be. There is much used in this cinity although not known until recently. The minunity should know its virtues. Yours truly,
